Tag: You are Poisoned!

July 2015

I live in the Rocky Mountains on an organic farm. For some time, I have been documenting the damage and destruction from

- Geo-Engineering;
- Herbicide spraying at the local, county, state and federal levels; and
- Fukushima radiation coming into the Rocky Mountain area

The photographs that you will be seeing are from my personal organic gardens, greenhouses, and animals.

'Fukushima' Tomato in my Greenhouse

The monster tomato that you see above came from a fused flower.
A fused flower looks like the flower on the right. (sorry, it closed a bit)

Sunflower Leaves

Normal

Damaged

Beets

In 2014 no damage

In 2015 failure to germinate (3 plantings) and plants damaged
The carrots are struggling but at least are surviving.

Not much to eat this year.

Squash Damage

Some species sustain damage others do not, depends on herbicide & radiation

Speaking of squash, I planted heirloom, uncoated, pure white squash seeds on June 11, 2015. On June 16, 2015 this metallic aquamarine squash seed comes to the surface. What would cause a seed to do this?

Rose Damage

The new roses on this bush hit during an herbicide and high temperature event. The roses dried paper-dry in 1-day, as did all tomato flowers (pollinated or not)

Soil Microbe Damage

This is a nefarious plan by chemical companies who are now selling you microbes to replace the ones that are killed. These are called biopesticides and they come with biotechnology which is either GMO or nano-particles. http://www.epa.gov/pesticides/biopesticides/whatarebiopesticides.htm

Biblical 1/3 Size Reduction

2014 Pictures

Cosmos & sweet peas & tomatoes are 2 feet tall in 2015, they should be 6 feet
1/3 the size reduction from 2015 than 2014

This is a 4-month old potato plant-3 inches tall

Leaves in Mission Mountain Wilderness Area

These look just like my pepper leaves

Evergreens on our Property

Twin Towers of Herbicide-Dead New Growth
Whole trees are dead also.

NOTICE

This area/road right-of-way/trail has been treated with herbicides to control populations of noxious weeds. Although these herbicides are considered non-toxic to humans at the levels used, it is advised that all visitors and their pets avoid direct contact with treated plants until the spray is dry (about 48 hours).

Note:
Due to herbicide treatment of this area, wild edibles should not be picked or consumed for 30 days following treatment.

The Brutal Reality of Fukushima Radiation

Vaginal/Rectal Prolapse in Goat Dead Kids

This small goat died after having 4 kids. Two were delivered by C-section. Two kids were delivered vaginally, the next day, one dead, one live. These KIDS GREW OUTSIDE OF THE UTERUS
The vet has been in practice for over 30 years has never heard of such a thing, ever.

These poor chickens were born March 5, 2011 and they have all died from horrible deaths. Before they died they laid mini to monstrous eggs weighing 6 ounces!

Will you stand by and let your family die?
